

Am. Championships Bowling Green, KY - Day 1

Contributed by Rob Whitt
Friday, 03 April 2009
Last Updated Wednesday, 07 October 2009

The Amature Championships in Bowling Green, KY kicked off today and so far has been a blast. While Alex and Kevin are in a different pool then me and Gavin it allows us to get a good insight into how the courses play before we get there.

Here are some photos of first Ephram White Park and then Lover's Lane Park both great parks so far, Alex and Kevin also played Preston Miller Park but I will get photos of the on Sunday when my pool plays it.

The players party was packed with over 500 people lining up to get their player package discs, 5 in all from the likes of INNOVA, Discraft, DGA, Gateway, and Latitude 64!